To Whom It May Concern,

Cumberland County, Tennessee, does not have, nor has it ever had, any zoning laws or similar restrictions on the use of property located within Cumberland County. There is, however, a Regional Planning Commission which meets monthly. This commission operates under Subdivision Regulations that were adopted in 1995.

Cumberland County requires no building permits. Building permits are required only within the city limits of the City of Crossville.

Sincerely,

Brock Hill
County Mayor
